

CAMP ALAMO

NORTHERN

WEST

A photograph of a sign for the US Army's Northernmost Outpost. The sign is rectangular with a white background and black text, mounted on a dark metal frame. It is positioned in the center of the image. The background features a grassy hillside, several evergreen trees, and a clear blue sky. A fence line is visible in the distance.
